AIM AND SCOPE

The 13th World Buffalo Congress, 2023, is an exceptional event where global challenges converge with sustainable solutions. The congress aims to facilitate knowledge exchange and business interactions focusing on advances and technologies in buffalo management, production, industry, and sustainable agriculture practices to face the global challenges of population growth, climate change, and food demand. The event program emphasizes the role of water buffaloes in sustainable food production in providing safe, nutritious, and sustainable food for the world.

This event, held in the vibrant heart of Venezuela's capital, Caracas, from November 22nd to 24th, 2023, brings together experts, innovators, and enthusiasts' attendees to discuss advances and technologies in the buffalo management, production, and industry to explore the cutting-edge-production technologies, strategies and policies to ensure livestock with a carbon-neutral footprint.

Our comprehensive program covers academia, scientific discourse, industry insights, and animal exhibitions to witness the evolution of buffalo farming as it shapes a sustainable agricultural future. This congress isn't just an event; it's a transformative milestone. Let's redefine the possibilities of sustainable agriculture together. Join us at the 13th World Buffalo Congress and be part of a movement shaping food production's future.
